

Eco-Friendly Fish Tales

10.01.09: Boston Globe-Metro Section
Eco-Friendly Fish Tales

A 2-ton fish made of metal parts moved by barge yesterday from the Boston Harbor Shipyard in East Boston to the Fan Pier Marina. HarborArts Inc. uses the sculpture to educate the public about social, economic, and environmental issues affecting the quality of harbors, waterways, and oceans. The nonprofit group is collaborating with the owners and developers of the Fan Pier to showcase the fish.